MEDIA RELEASE

2022-2023 Petroleum Products Pricing Review

Issues List and Completion of Phase I

The Newfoundland and Labrador Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities advises that the list of issues to be considered in the 2022-2023 Petroleum Products Pricing Review has now been released and Phase I is concluded. The Issues List is attached to this Media Release and can be found on the Board's website here. The Consultation Document prepared by the Board as part of Phase I provides information with respect to these issues and can be found on the Board's website here.

Phase II of the review is underway and a report is expected to be filed by R Cube Economic Consulting Inc., the Board's consultant for Phase II, in the spring of 2023. Thereafter there will be another opportunity for interested persons to provide their views before Phase II is concluded in the fall of 2023. To remain current on all things related to the Review, please visit the Board's website at: www.pub.nl.ca.
